

PASTOR'S COLUMN—MAY 7, 2012

Dear Parishioner:

I am grateful to those of you who spoke to me after Mass about my family/anger/kindness homily. I realize more now that many of you are hurting too and that we need each other in Jesus. A loving comment from one of you was that “you’re human after all, Father Terry”. I laughed but the truth is that I am human and being a spiritual leader can be confusing because the energy of the Holy Spirit is divine in the human. In other words, who I am as priest is bigger than me for God is doing rather mysterious things with you and me.

How about Psalm 118...“God’s kindness endures forever”! For me this Psalm reminds me that no matter what life presents us, God’s kindness is always with us so we can approach life more peaceably. Let’s grow in the kindness journey together and celebrate how the divine transforms the human.

Loving you in Christ,

Fr. Terry
