

PASTOR'S COLUMN—AUGUST 5, 2013

Dear Parishioners:

There may be certain days when we awaken from sleep and we feel dead energy-wise. We thought we got enough sleep but something is missing in our blood stream of life. Enter into the picture please the gift of faith in the risen Christ. Yes, this faith issue is crucial to our blood stream life.

The “pall” of our mortality can zap the life right out of our blood flow from awakening to retiring to sleep. It’s called fear, fear of death. If we carry this “death fear” around in our person we inevitably will be fatigued to the point of awakening from sleep feeling “dead”.

Ok, enough of this “lack of faith” living. It is time to really come alive in the risen Christ who constantly lives in our blood stream through the power of the Holy Spirit. Let us choose risen life morning till night via deeper faith in our risen savior, the beloved Jesus.

Loving you in Christ,

Fr. Terry
